BACKGROUND

Intensive Behavioral Health Services (IBHS) are an array of therapeutic behavioral health interventions and supports provided to children, youth or young adults (up to the age of 21 years) in the home, school or other community setting. IBHS were developed in response to an identified statewide need for services that better meet the treatment needs of children, youth and young adults struggling with mental health disorders.

IBH services include Individual services, Group services and Applied Behavioral Analysis (ABA) services, and any of the Evidence Based Practice models listed by the state that can be provided within those services. IBHS are used to support the behavioral health needs of children, youth and young adults in the natural environments where they live, learn and play. The environment where individual services, ABA services, or group services are delivered should be the least restrictive environment where a child, youth or young adult can reasonably be expected to achieve success.

The regulations specify that IBHS may be delivered in home or community-based, clinically appropriate settings as identified in the written order and individual treatment plan and that group services may also be delivered in a community like setting. In some instances, the provision of one-to-one individual services or ABA services in a youth's, or young adult's natural environment may not best address their behavioral health needs. In such instances it may be clinically appropriate to provide medically necessary individual services or ABA services at a provider's licensed location.

These one-to-one individual and ABA services at a center, or Center-Based services are able to be provided under the June 24, 2022 Bulletin OMHSAS-22-03 UPDATED: Provision of One-to-One Intensive Behavioral Health Services in a Licensed Location. In some instances, the provision of one-to-one individual services or ABA services in a child's, youth's, or young adult's natural environment may not meet the child's, youth's or young adult's behavioral health needs. In such instances it may be clinically appropriate to provide medically necessary individual services or ABA services at a provider's licensed location. Because these are services that are being provided to children, youth or young adults, the areas in the provider location where services are being provided should be age and developmentally appropriate and community like. A community like setting is a setting that simulates a natural and normal setting for a child, youth or young adult. Services provided at a provider's location are sometimes referred to as center-based services. These Center-Based services should only be provided for the amount of time required to enable the individual to acquire skills that will allow them to transition to services in the home or community.

Washington County is seeking responses to this RFP from licensed IBHS providers who are interested in working directly with their staff and Carelon Health of PA (Carelon) representatives, to develop or expand a Center-Based service to meet the unique needs of their youth. Because this will be a program that is designed specifically to meet the needs of Washington County Medical Assistance eligible youth, it is expected that providers will work with the County and Carelon to develop this unique program prior to submitting the required Attachment A to OMHSAS for approval. The awarded provider will be required to establish a Center location within the geographic boundaries of Washington County.

In order to respond to this RFP, the responding provider agency must have a licensed IBHS facility geographically located in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The award resulting from this RFP does not ensure that the need is sufficient to support the development and/or sustainability of this service.

Washington County is committed to ensuring that all children, youth, and young adults have the opportunity to receive high quality, strength-based treatment services that best meet their individual treatment needs. This commitment is the foundation of their desire to identify a qualified and experienced provider willing to work closely with the County to develop a program that will meet the unique needs of their children and youth.

TARGET POPULATION

The target population for the 1:1 Center-Based program is children and adolescents up to 21 who may display behaviors and/or skill deficits that interfere with the ability to function in their natural environment. Behaviors can include self-injurious behaviors, tantrum behaviors, aggression, and poor emotional regulation. Skill deficits include delayed language, play and social skills. Children will have a mental health diagnosis that may include but is not limited to Autism Spectrum Disorder, ADHD, Anxiety disorders, Oppositional Defiant Disorders, Conduct disorders.

The target population is individuals with behavioral health disorder diagnoses listed in the most recent version of the DSM, made by a licensed physician, licensed psychologist, certified nurse practitioner or other licensed professionals whose scope of practice includes the diagnosis of behavioral health disorders.

All services provided for these levels of care must adhere to all applicable and relevant federal, state and local standards, bulletins and regulations.
